FOREWORD FROM PRINCIPAL

Welcome to the Centre for Social Justice & Equity Quarterly Report for 2023/24

Warm welcome to all members of the CSJE Advisory Council. It is indeed a privilege for MSSW to host the Centre for Social Justice and Equity supported by the Government of Tamil Nadu. This is an indicator of the positive intent of the Government to focus on social justice and also an acknowledgement of the capacity of academic institutions to contribute in this space. However, it places a great responsibility on our shoulders to ensure that we do justice to the work at hand. The centre is staffed by a set of highly committed persons who work for extended hours to cater to emerging requirements from the Government and to carry out the Centre's planned activities. As you may read in this report, the last quarter had a concentration of work pertaining to tribal communities in which mapping of particularly vulnerable tribal communities constituted a substantial portion of the effort. This is the first time that such an extensive mapping has been attempted. I do believe that the deliberations during our meeting would add great value to the work and refine our perspectives and directions..

Best wishes and regards

Dr. Raja Samuel Principal, MSSW

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT Centre for Social Justice & Equity

We are proud that the Department of Adidravidar and Tribal Welfare, Government of Tamil Nadu has zeroed in on Madras School of Social Work to establish a model centre that would set momentum in public policy making in Tamil Nadu.

We are very grateful to Government of Tamil Nadu for supporting the centre by sanctioning a grant-in-aid of around 20 million rupees annually for over five years. The Secretary, Adidravidar and Tribal Welfare Department of Government of Tamil Nadu and the Directors of respective Adidravidar and Tribal Welfare Directorates are so particular in nurturing the nascent centre with motherly tenderness that has ensured the Centre emerge steadfastly over these four months.

The Governing Board of Madras School of Social Work has extended all possible support both institutional and monetary in making the Centre functional and sustainable. Any visibility that the Centre acquired in these initial months was feasible just because of the paternal hand-holding of the Chairman, the Secretary, the Treasurer and the Principal of MSSW. It is for ever remembered the efforts our Dean put forth for ensuring a comfortable office space for the Centre with pleasant working ambience and amenities.

The Centre quiet organically gelled with the rest of the centres and departments of MSSW effortlessly. This is feasible just by the camaraderie and enthusiasm witnessed among the staff members of the Centre in engaging with the thematic of social justice on multi-disciplinary perspectives and public policy outputs.

Added to this, the CSJE has meticulously built out a network of scholars and institutions particularly some specialist working groups on citizenship journalism, tribal forest rights, and Dalit entrepre neurship. We acknowledge here their contributions, particularly Dr. Natarajah Manickam, Professor, Loyola Extension Service, Thiruvanantha puram and one of the members of our Advisory Council; and Dr. K. Regupathy, Member, The Tamil Nadu State SC / ST Commission.

The CSJE is unique among other centres of MSSW in its support for promoting social justice not only through sustained social work at the grass-root level but by exploring the uncharted terrain of social policy making.

The Centre's mandate has never been stronger, as those most marginalized and deprived in this country face even tougher times ahead. This warrants us to drive social justice to the heart of public policy making. I guess you may trace a ray of hope in the pages of this report.

But there is so much more to be done.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY Centre for Social Justice & Equity Quarterly Report for 2023/24

The Centre for Social Justice and Equity (CSJE) at the Madras School of Social Work is a new addition to the wide spectrum of innovative centres created in the School recently. At the CSJE, our mission is to make social justice as the crux of public policy engagements in Tamil Nadu. We've discerned that the key to unlocking game-changing policy interventions is to bring forth and echo the voices of deprived and discriminated. Because it's there that we not only uncover some of India's biggest problems, but also find the best solutions.

Over the last 4 months, the CSJE has undertaken two research projects and Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTG) Habitation Survey in Tamil Nadu. It submitted a report and an Action Plan on the implementation of Forest Rights Act 2006 in Tamil Nadu to the Government of Tamil Nadu.

The CSJE has assisted the Directorate of Tribal Welfare, Government Tamil Nadu of on empanelment of Non-Governmental Organizations working with tribal populations and provided technical support to the empanelled NGOs in projects and programs design and implementation.

We have organized so far two civil society consultations and a State level convention.

The highest impact of the CSJE in these months is that of enumerating, visiting in person and documenting 2317 tribal (PVTGs) hamlets spread across 26 districts in Tamil Nadu.
